

Why Axess?

Gautefall

Drangedal, Norway

The family-friendly ski area Gautefall in Drangedal is located southwest of the city of Oslo. Especially in recent years, the Norwegian resort has set the goal of providing young and old with an unforgettable day on the slopes.

A chair lift, three T-bar lifts and two moving carpets are bringing about 7000 visitors to the 15 slopes within one hour. Gautefall also offers everything the heart desires for cross-country skiers.

After the ski resort changed to Axess systems, we asked Björn Roalstad, CEO of Gautefall Skiheisen AG, about the reasons for the modernization and the associated improvements.

What was the crucial point that made you switch to Axess?

„We had previously worked with another supplier for 33 years. The convincing online and resort solutions from Axess were the decisive step for us to change systems and suppliers“.

What has changed with the new products?

„Now we can process and offer everything through the Axess DATACENTER. This gives us a system integrated across the board with one single point of configuration. Before there were various sources for this. We are very satisfied with the hardware, the back office and the fantastic service of the team of Axess Scandinavia“.

How has the modernization process been started?

„The modernization started with the Axess PICK UP BOX 600, in the near future we will additionally equip our systems with the software solutions Axess

RESORT.RENTAL and Axess RESORT.LESSONS“.

What was particularly important in the project?

„It was especially important for us to have a partner who could offer us a complete solution for our entire ski area. Together with Axess we now have this possibility to get everything from one source“.
